

Pūraho — Colouring In

Kaihinu Pā was located on a peninsula and a small island called Mōioio.
What is in the water? Add in waka, taniwha, fish, birds and whatever else you think of.

Pūraho — Colouring In

Ngāi Tara knew that utu would be sought by Ngāti Kurī so they decided to launch a pre-emptive strike. Choose colours to represent the warriors and show the features of the night.

Pūraho — Colouring In

Ngāti Kurī went out fishing and made repeated references to nearby Ngāi Tara fishermen about how good their new fish hooks were. Decorate the waka and consider what colours you'll use for the water, the fish and sky.

Pūraho — Colouring In

Ngāi Tara were one of the neighbouring tribes and one day they invited Ngāti Kurī over for a feast. Ngāti Kurī were deceived into eating a blood relative. They were horrified. Draw a rākau, a cloud and a harakeke plant in the background.

Pūraho — Colouring In

Maru decided that Te Rapa-a-te-Kurī would live and become the caregiver of his children. It would be demeaning for Te Rapa-a-te-Kurī to tend to the whims and tantrums of the children daily. Draw a mat for the tamariki to sit on and add some toys for them to play with.

Pūraho — Colouring In

Manawa-i-waho is Pūraho's son-in-law. He escaped and alerted everyone to what had happened to Pūraho. Ngāti Kuri were stunned!

Pūraho — Colouring In

Pūraho was the most senior chief of Ngāti Kuri. His eldest son Marukaitātea was carving out a reputation as a formidable fighting chief. Colour them both in bold colours. What is behind them? You decide.

Pūraho — Colouring In

Ngāti Kuri gathered the bones of a Ngāi Tara chief and made fish hooks out of them. How many hooks are there?
Colour in this picture and select colours to depict the great moana.

Pūraho — Colouring In

The Ngāi Tara warriors crept up to the pā and hid near the wharepaku early in the morning. Pūraho was surprised!
What colours will you choose to show his surprise and anger?

Pūraho — Colouring In

Ngāti Kurī were stunned by the loss of Pūraho but retribution was swift and their subsequent attack quickly overwhelmed the Ngāi Tara pā. What colours will you choose to express what is happening here?

Pūraho — Colouring In

Rangineka was Pūraho's daughter. She was gathering harakeke with some friends.
Select colours to acknowledge and celebrate the mana of these women.

